बदलते वैश्विक व्यापारिक हालातों में भारत के लिए नए अवसर

प्रिय उद्यमियों

इज़राइल-ईरान तनाव, अमेरिका की व्यापार नीतियों और बढ़ते आयात शुल्कों ने वैश्विक व्यापार व्यवस्था को गहराई से प्रभावित किया है। विश्व व्यापार की परिस्थितियाँ समय-समय पर बदलती रहती हैं और वर्तमान दौर भी इसी परिवर्तन का प्रतीक है। अमेरिका विश्व का सबसे बड़ा उपभोक्ता बाज़ार माना जाता है, विशेषकर उपभोक्ता वस्तुओं के क्षेत्र में। हाल ही में अमेरिकी प्रशासन द्वारा अनेक देशों पर आयात शुल्क बढ़ाने के निर्णय से एक ओर अमेरिकी उपभोक्ताओं के लिए वस्तुएँ महंगी हुई हैं, वहीं दूसरी ओर अमेरिका को निर्यात करने वाले देशों के व्यापारियों को भी बड़ा झटका लगा है। बढ़ी हुई इम्पोर्ट ड्यूटी के कारण कई निर्यात ऑर्डर रद्द हुए, जिससे निर्यातकों के सामने नई चुनौतियाँ खड़ी हो गई हैं।

ऐसे समय में भारत के लिए यह परिस्थितियाँ आत्मनिर्भरता और निर्यात विस्तार की दिशा में नए अवसर लेकर आई हैं। भारत ने केवल एक बड़े देश पर निर्भर रहने के बजाय विश्व के अनेक देशों के साथ व्यापारिक संबंध मजबूत करने की रणनीति अपनाई है। नए बाज़ारों की खोज, निर्यात प्रोत्साहन योजनाएँ तथा प्रतिस्पर्धात्मक उत्पादन क्षमता ने भारतीय उत्पादों को वैश्विक स्तर पर नई पहचान दिलाई है।

भारत का वर्तमान नेतृत्व वैश्विक आर्थिक परिस्थितियों को समझते हुए योजनाबद्ध तरीके से देश को मजबूत बनाने में जुटा है। इतिहास गवाह है कि विपरीत परिस्थितियाँ ही किसी राष्ट्र को अधिक सक्षम, आत्मनिर्भर और प्रतिस्पर्धी बनाती हैं। आज भारत इसी दिशा में आगे बढ़ता दिखाई दे रहा है।

विशेष रूप से हाउसवेयर उद्योग में भारत ने उल्लेखनीय प्रगति की है। पहले से निर्यात कर रहे देशों में भारत अब अधिक मात्रा में अपने उत्पाद भेज रहा है। वहीं कुछ प्रतिस्पर्धी देश गुणवत्ता और प्रतिस्पर्धात्मक कीमतों पर आपूर्ति करने में पिछड़ते नज़र आ रहे हैं। भारत ने MSME क्षेत्र के मार्गदर्शन, आधुनिक तकनीक और BSCI जैसे अंतरराष्ट्रीय गुणवत्ता मानकों को अपनाकर वैश्विक बाज़ार में अपनी अलग पहचान बनाई है। परिणामस्वरूप विश्वभर के खरीदार भारतीय उत्पादों की गुणवत्ता और समय पर आपूर्ति क्षमता पर भरोसा करने लगे हैं।

भारतीय निर्माता और निर्यातक भी अपने इन्फ्रास्ट्रक्चर का तेजी से विस्तार कर रहे हैं तथा ऑटोमेशन को अपनाकर उत्पादन क्षमता बढ़ा रहे हैं। इससे न केवल गुणवत्ता सुनिश्चित हो रही है बल्कि बड़े स्तर पर समयबद्ध निर्यात भी संभव हो रहा है। सरकार भी निरंतर निर्यात वृद्धि, गुणवत्ता नियंत्रण और व्यापारिक बाधाओं के समाधान के लिए समीक्षा बैठकों तथा नीतिगत सुधारों पर कार्य कर रही है।

आज विश्व की धारणा बदल रही है। कभी भारतीय उत्पादों को लेकर जो संदेह था, वह अब विश्वास में बदल रहा है। नई सदी का भारत गुणवत्ता, विश्वसनीयता और समय पर आपूर्ति का प्रतीक बनकर उभर रहा है। विश्व के कई देशों के बड़े ऑर्डर समय पर पूरे होना इसी बदलती छवि का प्रमाण है।

स्थिर सरकार, उद्योग-हितैषी नीतियाँ और बढ़ता औद्योगिक विकास भारत को वैश्विक व्यापार का महत्वपूर्ण केंद्र बना रहे हैं। अनेक विकसित देश अब अपने उत्पाद भारत में निर्मित करवाने के इच्छुक हैं। "मेक इन इंडिया" और "आत्मनिर्भर भारत" जैसी पहलें देश को वैश्विक विनिर्माण केंद्र बनाने की दिशा में प्रभावी साबित हो रही हैं।

शिक्षा और तकनीकी विकास ने भी भारत की स्थिति को मजबूत किया है। देश में कुशल एवं शिक्षित कार्यबल की संख्या लगातार बढ़ रही है, जबकि भारतीय प्रतिभा ने विशेष रूप से IT क्षेत्र में विश्वभर में अपनी क्षमता का लोहा मनवाया है।

भारतीय उत्पादों को वैश्विक मंच देने के लिए आधुनिक और विशाल प्रदर्शनी केंद्रों का निर्माण भी तेजी से हो रहा है। निकट भविष्य में भारत विश्व के सबसे बड़े व्यापार मेलों और औद्योगिक प्रदर्शनियों का केंद्र बन सकता है, जहाँ दुनिया भर के खरीदार भारतीय उत्पादों की खरीद के लिए आएँगे।

भारत आज केवल एक उभरती अर्थव्यवस्था नहीं, बल्कि वैश्विक व्यापार का एक विश्वसनीय और मजबूत साझेदार बनकर सामने आ रहा है। यदि इसी प्रकार नीतिगत स्थिरता, गुणवत्ता सुधार और निर्यात प्रोत्साहन जारी रहा, तो वह दिन दूर नहीं जब भारत विश्व व्यापार में अग्रणी भूमिका निभाएगा।

"स्टील मार्केट इन्फो" भी लंबे समय से देश के हाउसवेयर उद्योग को प्रोत्साहित करने तथा उद्योग जगत को सकारात्मक दिशा देने में महत्वपूर्ण भूमिका निभाता आ रहा है।

HKTDC's seven flagship lifestyle and licensing events successfully attract over 95,000 global buyers

Hong Kong's international trade strength on display as cross-sector opportunities open new markets for global businesses

The Hong Kong Trade Development Council (HKTDC) today successfully concluded seven flagship lifestyle and licensing events, attracting over 95,000 buyers from 134 countries and regions for sourcing and business negotiations. Among the lifestyle fairs, the Hong Kong Gifts & Premium Fair attracted over 32,000 buyers, Home InStyle drew some 20,000 buyers, and Fashion InStyle gathered some 12,000 buyers, while the Hong Kong International Printing & Packaging Fair and DeLuxe PrintPack Hong Kong saw over 9,600 buyers attend the concurrent events. Meanwhile, the Hong Kong International Licensing Show (HKILS) attracted over 21,000 buyers, and the Asian Licensing Conference (ALC) featured over 20 international licensing industry leaders as speakers. Non-local buyers at these fairs came primarily from Chinese Mainland, Taiwan, and Japan, while significant growth was also recorded in buyer numbers from the Philippines, Canada, and Türkiye, underscoring the fairs' strong international appeal.

Jenny Koo, HKTDC Deputy Executive Director, said: "In alignment with the national 15th Five-Year Plan, Hong Kong will continue to actively develop its role as a regional intellectual property trading hub, further enhancing its international competitiveness in the cultural and creative industries and IP transactions. The seven flagship events fully showcased Hong Kong's distinctive strengths in lifestyle, cultural and creative design, brand development, and intellectual property, offering global buyers a rich and diverse array of sourcing options, while connecting exhibitors with international buyers and partners to unlock business opportunities. HKTDC will continue to leverage Hong Kong's unique advantage of connecting Chinese Mainland with the rest of the world, foster cross-sector international trade collaboration, and reinforce Hong Kong's status as an international trade hub."

Product trends:

In the gifts and premiums market, respondents believed the strongest growth potential lies in: cultural gifts (19.7%), sustainable gifts (18.6%), and tech gifts (18.6%)

In the furniture and home products market, designer furniture & houseware products (27.3%), interior decoration & handicrafts (27.1%), and smart home technology (23.0%) were considered to have the most growth potential

In the fashion market, respondents believed designer clothing / branded clothing (42.4%), urban clothing (34.5%), and womenswear (31.9%) have the strongest growth potential

The 139th Canton Fair was a complete success

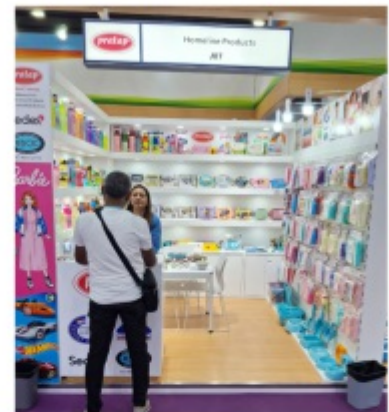

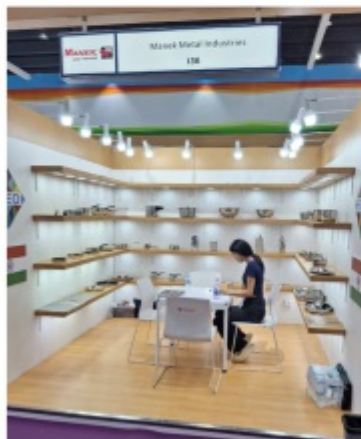

The Second Phase of the 139th Spring Canton Fair, held from April 23 to April 27, 2026, concluded with a strong focus on "Quality Home Life". This phase served as a massive sourcing hub for global e-commerce sellers, retailers, and wholesalers by showcasing structural shifts toward premium, eco-friendly, and high-tech consumer goods.

Buyer Milestones: By the end of Phase 2, cumulative attendance crossed 245,000 international buyers for the session, marking an increase in buyers from regions like Europe, the Americas, and the Middle East Exhibitor Footprint: The exhibition floor spanned roughly 515,000 square meters. It hosted 24,735 specialized booths and 10,313 independent exhibitors.

High-Tech Focus: More than 2,400 enterprises exhibiting in Phase 2 held national-level classifications as high-tech enterprises or "little giant" specialized manufacturers. This reflects a major upgrade from traditional commodity trading to design-focused engineering

INTERNATIONAL HOUSEWARES ASSOCIATION LAUNCHES SECOND ANNUAL STATE OF THE INDUSTRY REPORT

MarketScope highlights several categories with sales gains –and the trends contributing to them

ROSEMONT, ILL. Several home and housewares categories including kitchen electrics, cookware/bakeware, home comfort + water filtration, and gadgets/cutlery saw sales gains last year, according to the International Housewares Association's (IHA) new MarketScope report. MarketScope is the first installment of IHA's 2026 State of the Industry Report, which was published today on the news platform, HomePageNews.com. This installment provides data and analysis on U.S. market size by category and retail channel.

"There's no doubt that economic uncertainty made for a challenging year in our industry," said Derek Miller, IHA president & CEO. "But that doesn't mean there aren't opportunities. The IHA State of the Industry Report is designed to identify those opportunities and assist companies in making the best strategic decisions for their customers and partners as they plan for the future."

According to the report, U.S. home and housewares sales totaled $77.12 billion in 2025, down 0.5% from the previous year.

- Small appliance sales amounted to $44.94 billion, up 1% from 2024. Small appliances, as defined by Circana's "Checkout" consumer-tracking methodology, include kitchen, personal care and home environment electrics.

- Non-electric housewares sales totaled $32.18 billion, down 2.5% as a whole from 2024. This grouping includes categories such as cookware, bakeware, kitchen tools, gadgets, tabletop, home organization and cleaning items.

There are, however, several individual categories within both groups with increases in dollar sales:

- Total kitchen electrics saw a 4% boost as consumers ate and entertained at home more. Growth was led by air fryers, espresso makers, ice shavers/snow cone makers and stand mixers.

- Cookware/bakeware saw a 4% boost, with baking continuing to make gains. For the first time since 1980, Circana data shows that sales of ready-to-eat baked goods declined, while sales of baking ingredients increased.

- Home comfort + water filtration grew 2% as changes in weather patterns created a greater need for products to help people stay cool and breathe cleaner air.

- Gadgets/cutlery increased 2% as consumers ate more at home, but also with a greater focus on convenience and a greater emphasis on protein.

MarketScope data is generated through IHA's partnership with industry-leading market research and analytics firm Circana.

According to Circana vice president and senior home analyst Joe Derochowski, five factors contributed positively to home and housewares sales across all categories in 2025:

- Consumers eating at home more
- Consumers entertaining at home more
- High-frequency-use products hitting the replacement phase
- Changes in weather patterns
- New product innovation

MarketScope also reports that dedicated e-commerce sites and mass merchants represent the top two sales channels for both small appliances and other housewares. However, there is more channel diversification within housewares, where dollar stores, sporting goods stores and specialty home retailers make the top ten.

In total, 40% of all home and housewares goods were purchased in-store in 2025 vs 60% online. That represents a 2% shift from last year's IHA State of the Industry Report (42% in-store in 2024 vs 58% online).

Complete data, charts and analysis can be found at <https://www.homepagenews.com/SOI26/MarketScope>.

The 2026 IHA State of the Industry Report is a free resource available to the industry and will be published in three parts:

- Part 1: MarketScope—Market sales data on the total U.S. housewares business and key housewares categories, as well as sales by retail channel. Data is made available through IHA's partnership with market research and analytics firm Circana. (Published May 13)

- Part 2: MarketOutlook—A detailed look at consumer purchase intent over the next year, as well as the key product features, benefits and other factors consumers expect to direct their purchase decisions. Features exclusive data commissioned by IHA from Morning Consult. (Available in June)

- Part 3: MarketWatch—In-depth analysis of the primary values influencing consumer attitudes and home lifestyle preferences. Features exclusive data commissioned by IHA from Springboard Futures. (Available in July)

2027 Show to feature reimagined configuration that unites industry's core categories

ROSEMONT, ILL. (June 3, 2026)—Space applications are now open for The Inspired Home Show® 2027, the premier exposition for the home and housewares industry organized annually by the International Housewares Association (IHA). The 2027 Show – to be held Tuesday-Thursday, March 9-11 at Chicago's McCormick Place – will feature a reimagined Show floor that unites its core product categories to deliver a more dynamic, discovery-driven and engaging marketplace experience for both buyers and exhibitors.

"From startup brands and independent stores to global suppliers and leading retailers, The Inspired Home Show unites the home and housewares industry for top-to-top meetings, all under one roof, over just three days," said IHA President & CEO Derek Miller. "For 2027, we've made some enhancements that will create a more connected, experiential and globally focused Show — delivering more opportunities for discovery, engagement and meaningful business connections across both halls."

The first set of enhancements involve a new Show configuration. To maximize McCormick Place's South Hall and create stronger connections across categories, the Show will bring together the industry's core groupings — Clean + Contain, Dine + Décor and Wired + Well — into one vibrant and high-energy destination.

The North Hall will be established as a Global Marketplace and a dedicated destination for global manufacturing and sourcing. This includes International Sourcing exhibitors, select Global Design Point Pavilions and dedicated networking and hospitality spaces, including the International Business Center, registration and a café.

In 2027, participants will also be able to enjoy integrated activations that will enhance the Show experience. New activations will include:

- Innovation District, which brings together three powerful Show elements – the Inventors Corner, the IHA Global Innovation Awards (gia) Student Design Winners, and the Inspiration Theater – to create a high-energy destination centered on fresh thinking and creative ideas.
- Discovery Park, which transforms the Debut incubator for smaller brands or new-to-the-Show exhibitors into a park-inspired destination celebrating newness.
- Industry Content Hubs – including the Pantone® ColorWatch Display, Buyers Club & New Product Showcase, and Keynote Theater – which will create spaces for learning, networking and discovery.

- Connection + Dwell Spaces—including the New Exhibitor Showcase & Lounge, gia Retail Winners & Lounge, Business Center, and a Café— which provide built-in opportunities for meetings, conversations and recharging.
- Editorial Studio, which brings the News Center onto the Show floor and transforms behind-the-scenes functions into a destination for storytelling and a curated hub for media and content creation.

Other popular activations returning in 2027 include:

- Pet Products Pavilion, with the addition of a Puppy Park, allowing for pet-related products to meet real-life interaction. Launched in 2025 and produced in collaboration with the American Pet Products Association.
- Candle Pavilion, which adds an extremely popular home accent category to buyers' discovery opportunities. Launched in 2025 and produced in collaboration with the National Candle Association.
- SPLICE Licensing Hub, which connects attendees with brands interested in licensing deals. Launched in 2026 and produced in collaboration with the Society of Product Licensors Committed to Excellence (SPLICE).

Exhibitors can now apply for space at the 2027 Show:

www.theinspiredhomeshow.com/exhibit/space-app/

Also new for 2027, booth space will be assigned using a new priority-based system that considers seniority (based on exhibiting consecutive years, IHA membership, and booth size in 2026 and 2025), booth size and configuration (including expansion requests), premium availability (limited high-visibility locations), and overall floor plan efficiency (traffic flow, utilities and safety).

There will be no rate increase for IHA members requesting regular space. Members who apply and pay before July 10, 2026 will also receive an early application discount of $2 per square foot.

IHA members may also apply for premium exhibit space, a new offering for the 2027 Show. Premium space will be available at a higher base rate than regular space, but the early application discount will also apply.

Non-members may also apply for space, but early application discounts and premium spaces are not available.

More details and a FAQ on space applications, the new priority-based system, and 2027 rates are available at 2027 Exhibitor Application | The Inspired Home Show.

The Inspired Home Show 2026 showcased over 1,000 exhibitors, thousands of unique brands, and hundreds of thousands of products to attendees from over 100 countries at Chicago's McCormick Place. The Show attracted senior-level executives, DMMs, GMMs and buyers from nearly all the key retailers; U.S.-based buyers alone attending the Show represented more than 100,000 retail locations and nearly $75 billion in buying power.

"2026 participants consistently told us how much they appreciated the opportunity to meet face-to-face with decision-makers from the biggest players in the industry, but also to discover new, emerging brands from all over the world," said Miller. "The diverse mix of buyers, sellers and media professionals makes the Show an essential platform for relationship-building and business growth."

Jindal Stainless' Hisar unit achieves 'Zero Waste to Landfill' certification with Platinum+ rating

Hisar, May 11, 2026: Reinforcing its commitment to environmental responsibility and sustainable manufacturing, the Hisar plant of Jindal Stainless, India's leading stainless steel manufacturer, has been awarded the Zero Waste to Landfill (ZWTL) certification with a Platinum+ rating. The certification, verified by Bureau Veritas India Pvt. Ltd, highlights the Hisar unit's robust waste management framework and its efforts towards strengthening waste segregation, minimising landfill disposal, and embedding sustainable waste management practices across the plant.

During the reporting period from FY 2024-25, the facility achieved an exceptional waste diversion rate of 99.99%, ensuring that nearly all waste generated was effectively recycled, reused, or recovered, with negligible quantities directed to landfill. The assessment, conducted as per mass balance methodology, acknowledges the unit's strong alignment with circular economy principles and its ongoing commitment to responsible industrial operations.

Speaking on the achievement, Managing Director, Jindal Stainless, Mr Abhyuday Jindal, said, "At Jindal Stainless, responsible manufacturing is a core business imperative shaping the way we operate and grow. This certification reflects our long-term commitment to aligning operational excellence with environmental responsibility. Achievements such as this further strengthen our resolve to build globally competitive, resource-efficient, and future-ready manufacturing ecosystems."

Commenting on the achievement, Unit Head – Hisar, Jindal Stainless, Mr Vijay Bindlish, said, "Achieving a 99.99% waste diversion rate is a significant milestone for the Hisar plant, reflecting our teams' sustained focus on operational excellence and responsible manufacturing. The Platinum+ certification further encourages us to drive higher efficiencies and advance environmentally conscious practices across our operations."

The Zero Waste to Landfill certification is a globally recognised benchmark that evaluates how effectively an organisation eliminates landfill disposal through reduction, reuse, recycling, and recovery initiatives. The Platinum+ rating represents the highest level of performance, reserved for organisations achieving near-total waste diversion.

Stainless steel output increases in early 2026

The World Stainless Association says melt shop production rose 2.5 percent year-on-year in the first quarter of 2026.

The production of stainless steel in nations that report figures to the Brussels-based World Stainless Association (WorldStainless) rose by 2.5 percent in the first quarter of this year compared with early 2025.

WorldStainless has calculated total stainless steel melt shop production at 15.8 million metric tons (mmt) in the first three months of 2026, an increase from the less than 15.4 mmt produced early last year.

Asia produced 85 percent of the 13.4 mmt of the world's stainless steel produced in this year's first quarter. That continent's output rose by 3.3 percent year on year. Production in Asia, which now dominates world output, relies heavily on nickel pig iron and other ore-based materials, while mills in the United States and Europe rely more heavily on stainless steel scrap.

Output in the United States also increased in early 2026 (by 2.3 percent) compared with one year earlier. However, the U.S. produced only 566,000 metric tons of stainless steel in this year's first quarter, thus being dwarfed by production in Asia. Mills in the European Union produced 1.5 mmt of the iron, nickel and chromium-based metal in this year's first three months. Although that figure is higher compared with the U.S., EU output fell by 4.6 percent year on year. The People's Republic of China, which has been accused of overcapacity in the carbon steel sector, produced more than 60 percent of the global stainless steel total in the first quarter of 2026.

The country's output rose by 4.3 percent, outpacing gains in the rest of Asia and in the U.S. China also boosted its share of the global market from 61.3 percent in early 2025 to nearly 62.4 percent in this year's first quarter.

India's Cookware Market Projected to Reach $5.1B by 2033 on Stainless Steel Demand and E-Commerce Growth

The India cookware market is experiencing strong and consistent growth driven by changing lifestyles, rising disposable income, and increasing adoption of modern kitchen solutions. Cookware products have become an essential part of both urban and semi urban households, with consumers increasingly preferring durable, aesthetic, and multifunctional kitchenware. The market is witnessing a shift from traditional cooking utensils toward advanced materials such as stainless steel, aluminum, and non stick coated cookware.

According to the latest study by Persistence Market Research, The India cookware market size is projected at US$3.2 billion in 2026 and is projected to reach about US 5.1 billion by 2033, growing at a Compound Annual Growth Rate of 6.8% between 2026 and 2033. This growth reflects rising urbanization, expansion of organized retail, and increasing demand for premium kitchen products across residential and commercial segments. The growing influence of nuclear families, busy lifestyles, and online retail penetration has significantly boosted cookware demand. Additionally, increasing awareness regarding health and hygiene is encouraging consumers to shift toward safer and high quality cookware materials. India's cookware industry is evolving rapidly with strong competition among domestic and international brands. The shift aligns with broader trends in modular kitchen design and residential interiors.

Key market trends and regulations affecting recycled steel in 2026 and beyond

Accessibility, trade restrictions, and decarbonization goals were discussed at BIR's Stainless Steel & Special Alloys Committee meeting

At BIR's Stainless Steel & Special Alloys Committee in Gothenburg, Sweden, Chairman Joost van Kleef described the sector as "constantly adapting and always looking ahead." The need to adapt and keep an eye on the future was the thread that ran through the session's discussions, which included the changing global flows of material and the new EU Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism (CBAM).

An overview of current global trading conditions

Ritesh Maheshwari, executive director of India-based Shabro Metallic Pvt Ltd., shared current global trading conditions with a summary of the BIR World Mirror update for the first quarter of 2026.

Highlights included the LME nickel price peaking around US$ 19,500 per tonne, nickel production in Indonesia reaching around 210 million tonnes, and U.S. mills reporting 80 percent utilization rates. In addition, Red Sea disruptions led to longer delivery times from Asia to the Middle East, while higher freight and insurance costs also affected shipments.

Financial performance in Europe was below satisfactory levels but showing signs of improvement, while the start of CBAM led to higher prices across a wide range of products in the value chain, according to Maheshwari. Asia experienced increased production costs owing to the Middle East supply chain disruption. And in the USA, there was firm domestic demand, but stainless scrap exports fell to multi-decade lows in 2025.

A changing landscape means that recyclers must adapt

An overview of how and why the global stainless landscape has changed was provided by Anand Gupta, founder and CEO of Aamor Inox Ltd. in India. "China continues to dominate on scale," he said. "Indonesia has grown rapidly through nickel-led expansion, and India is emerging as one of the fastest-growing stainless ecosystems globally, reflecting a staggering 54 percent growth. At the same time, Europe and the Americas are facing higher pressure around energy, carbon, and overall competitiveness."

While Asia is often discussed as one story, Gupta pointed out that China, Indonesia, and India have evolved across very different models. "China's growth has largely been driven by scale and integration," he explained. "Indonesia's growth has been driven by nickel advantage and NPI (nickel pig iron) economics. India's model, however, is much more demand-driven and significantly more scrap-dependent." Because of these differences, their raw material strategies are very different — and this matters as secondary material becomes increasingly strategic, it was noted.

Select markets are focused on decarbonizing scrap trade and recycling

For the mature scrap economies like Europe and the U.S., there has been greater emphasis on retaining cleaner scrap for domestic consumption, with circularity expectations, carbon policies, and traceability requirements starting to reshape trade flows. "Scrap remains a liquid commodity, but the market is becoming more selective," said Gupta. Quality requirements, domestic consumption priorities, logistics, and policy considerations are becoming increasingly important.

In India, domestic scrap generation has not been growing at the same pace as demand, and there are challenges around consistency, quality, and metallic yields, meaning a continued dependence on imported scrap, it was suggested.

Higher scrap usage sounds attractive in theory, but Gupta explained that the operational reality is more complex. While some scrap melt routes can absorb a wider range of qualities, others require tighter controls over chemistries and residuals. He believed that competitiveness in the future will increasingly be determined by the ability to use and process scrap effectively, not just to secure it. His prediction was therefore that the sector's next phase of adaptation will happen in the melt shops.

The EU Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism

Turning the focus to Europe, Secretary General of Recycling Europe Julia Ettinger gave an update on CBAM and told the audience to "keep a close eye" on its developments. CBAM puts a price on specified carbon-intensive imports into the EU, such as steel and aluminium. It came into full effect, known as its definitive phase, on January 1 this year.

The EU is already looking at proposals to expand the scope of CBAM. Ettinger explained that there is a drive to move burdens downstream, such as including semi-finished products. This discussion led to the question of whether recycled materials would be included in CBAM in the future. Currently, the European Commission has said inclusion of post-consumer scrap could undermine recycling incentives and circular economy objectives.

"Currently, scrap is not planned to be included in CBAM, but — and this is very important — recycled content and circularity increasingly enter the discussion about carbon pricing, so while it's not in the scope right now, it may happen at some point in the future," Ettinger said.

She explained that the EU Emissions Trading Scheme (ETS) and CBAM are linked. The ETS places a limit on the total amount of greenhouse gas emissions that can be emitted by operations within its scope. Companies can purchase so-called "allowances" to emit CO₂, and those allowances can be traded with other companies. The concept is that companies reduce their emissions because they can trade their unused allowances, giving them a financial incentive to decarbonize. Free allowances have been available under the EU ETS to prevent companies from relocating outside the EU to avoid the costs, but these are being phased out by 2034 owing to the introduction of CBAM.

Final comments

The meeting concluded with a panel discussion on various topics, bringing in BIR Trade and Environment Policy Officer Alexandra Vartan and Adam Schaffer, vice president of International Trade and Global Affairs at the U.S.-based Recycled Materials Association (ReMA).

Van Kleef, who is managing director of Netherlands-based Oryx Stainless, asked Schaffer what influenced investment decisions. He responded that many decisions in the U.S. were made when the Infrastructure Investment Act and the Inflation Reduction Act were being put in place by Congress, with businesses wanting to "make sure that they are not going to get overturned by trade policies".

Revisiting CBAM and its complexities, Vartan flagged up that a BIR Business Digest is being prepared on this EU initiative and will be published in the coming months. BIR is also planning a webinar on the topic with Recycling Europe.

TTK Prestige doubles induction cooktop capacity, says demand surge is 'here to stay'

TTK Prestige expects induction cooktops to become a larger contributor to its business as consumer adoption accelerates, prompting the company to expand production capacity two-fold amid sustained demand momentum.

TTK Prestige has doubled its induction cooktop manufacturing capacity as the company bets on sustained consumer demand for the category, which it now believes is "here to stay".

Speaking to CNBC-TV18 after the company's March quarter earnings, Venkatesh Vijayaraghavan, CEO and Managing Director of TTK Prestige, said the kitchen appliances maker has proactively expanded production capacity to meet rising demand for induction cooktops, which have seen stronger consumer adoption in recent quarters.

"We proactively expanded our production capacities. We are now running at almost 2x of what we were in the pre-West Asia war period," Vijayaraghavan said. "We've taken a little bit of a leap of faith in believing this will continue."

The company had initially expected the surge in demand for induction cooktops to be temporary, but consumer behaviour appears to be changing more permanently, he said. "Today, with these changes and the possible impacts that can be envisaged, people have started buying them more proactively. So, the category is here to stay," Vijayaraghavan told CNBC-TV18. He added that induction cooktops, which currently contribute around 12–13% of TTK Prestige's sales, are likely to become a larger part of the company's business as adoption continues to rise. The company said the momentum seen in the March quarter has continued into the current quarter as well, aided in part by uncertainty in the global economy.

TTK Prestige's March quarter performance was driven partly by the induction cooktop category, although Vijayaraghavan said the growth was not entirely dependent on it. According to him, induction cooktops contributed around 30–40% of the upside during the quarter, while the remainder came from transformation initiatives undertaken by the company over the past two years.

"In addition to induction cooktops, we've also seen reasonably good growth in the other categories," he said.

TTK Prestige also flagged pressure on margins due to rising commodity prices, particularly aluminium and stainless steel, which are key raw materials for the company.

"There's been a substantial impact on input prices, particularly aluminium," Vijayaraghavan said, adding that aluminium prices could rise by nearly 10% in the first quarter. The company expects to pass on a large part of the increase to consumers, while also relying on internal cost-saving initiatives to protect margins. TTK Prestige Ltd. reported its March quarter results on 22 May. The company posted a net profit of Rs.37 crore, compared with a net loss of Rs.40.7 crore in the same quarter last year. The year-ago quarter included a one-off impairment charge of Rs.71.4 crore related to goodwill impairment at its UK subsidiary, along with higher expenses. Revenue for the March quarter rose 12% year-on-year to Rs.729 crore, while EBITDA increased 31% to Rs.67 crore from Rs.51 crore a year earlier. EBITDA margin expanded by 140 basis points to 9.2%, from 7.8% in the corresponding period last year.

StoveKraft bets on induction cooktops and cooking appliances to drive FY27 expansion

StoveKraft Managing Director Rajendra Gandhi said the company is seeing significantly higher growth in induction cooktops compared with last year and expects the category's contribution to revenue to more than double from around 15% in FY26

Bengaluru-based kitchen appliances manufacturer Stove Kraft said demand for induction cooktops has remained strong, driven by rising consumer acceptance.

Managing Director Rajendra Gandhi said, "We are growing substantially higher than the last year. While last year was around 15% contribution, we are very likely to cross twice that contribution from induction cooktop in this year." Cooking appliances, including induction cooktops and air fryers, currently account for about 30% of sales and management believes the segment has the potential to expand significantly over the next year. Apart from fresh demand, Stove Kraft is also seeing replacement demand emerge from consumers who purchased kitchen appliances during the pandemic years. According to the company, rising LPG-related challenges and growing adoption of electric cooking products are creating favourable conditions for the segment. The stock was trading at Rs.659.95 at 11:53 am on the NSE and has gained more than 12% over the past year. To support the expected increase in demand, Stove Kraft has been adding assembly lines and expanding capacity. Gandhi said the company has enough infrastructure to manufacture nearly three times last year's induction cooktop volumes and does not require any major capital expenditure to support the ramp-up. The company is also preparing to start supplying products to IKEA after spending the past year developing products for the retailer. While the contribution in FY27 is expected to be modest, management sees a larger opportunity over the medium term. Stove Kraft expects revenue growth to exceed its initial target of 15% in FY27, supported by higher sales of cooking appliances. The company also believes operating leverage will help improve profitability despite continued pressure from currency movements and higher input costs. Management expects EBITDA margins to remain above 11% and sees further improvement in profitability over the next two years. Exports are also expected to increase, with their contribution to revenue likely to rise to 12–13% from around 9% in the fourth quarter. Stove Kraft's current market capitalisation is Rs.2,184.26 crore.
